

Rev. Kyle Hayes

Director of Development, Children of Promise Inc.

Kyle Hayes loves telling stories. As Director of Development for Children of Promise, Kyle travels the world documenting and sharing stories about how God is at work in the majority world. Driven by the idea that everyone should have a seat at the table, Kyle encourages families, individuals, and churches around the world to share from what they have been blessed with to aide children experiencing poverty. Rev. Hayes received multiple degrees from Anderson University (B.A. Bible, B.A. History, MACM), while spending the first decade of his career in church ministry as a Children's, Mission, and Communications Pastor. Kyle and his wife Jessica work together as the development team for Children of Promise, tackling the storytelling duties as a family. When not working, Kyle loves to watch soccer, and travels the world with Jessica and their two children Adelaide (10) and Caspian (8).